AMER ARI GOLF INVITATIONAL – NCAA MEN’S FINALS STANFORD CAPTURES THE WIN AT MAUNA LANI RESORT

Kohala Coast, Hawaii, February 5, 2010 – The NCAA Men’s Amer Ari Invitational wrapped up today after 18 on Mauna Lani’s North Course.

The second ranked Stanford men’s golf team shot a final round 286 (-2) to capture the 22-team, 120-player Mauna Lani Invitational. The Cardinal’s 54-hole total of 866 marks Stanford’s second straight tournament title as they played a tournament field featuring the nation’s top-three teams.

Texas finished at 6-over par for the tournament, just four shots back of tournament champion Stanford. Oregon and Washington tied for second at five-over par, and No. 1 Oklahoma State finished in fifth place, one stroke behind Texas.

Texas junior Bobby Hudson headed a stellar day for the Longhorns by rallying from three shots back and firing a 6-under 66 to claim his second career collegiate title by one stroke.

This year’s event was hosted by the University of Hawaii – Hilo Campus. Participating teams included: Arizona State, Georgia Tech, Oregon, San Jose State Univ., TCU, UCLA, Cal State East Bay, Oregon State U., Sonoma State, Texas, Washington, Colorado, Hawaii-Hilo, University of Rhode Island, Southern California, Texas Tech, Florida State, Oklahoma State, University of San Francisco, Stanford and UC Davis.
